Hordern to show new ergonomic screwdrivers at QME

Hordern and Company will launch a new range of German-made Felo Ergonic Professional Screwdrivers on Stand 8050 during the 2008 Queensland Mining and Engineering (QME) exhibition at the Mackay Showground from July 22-24.

Described as the “most comfortable screwdrivers in the world”, the screwdrivers feature:

- soft cell gel handle technology with a flexible, scratch and acid-resistant elastomer outer coating
- a handle which flexes and distorts under pressure to fit perfectly into a user’s hand.

“When in use, no two screwdrivers are the same,” Artie Phillips said.

“The hand and handle interlock, causing less strain and work fatigue and allowing higher maximum torque, enhanced sensitivity and perfect control.”

The Ergonic screwdrivers are available in slotted, Phillips and Torx models as well as VDE 1000v individual models and sets for electricians.
